HEADS AND TAIL—Two Parisians let their curiosity take a head-long plunge, as they inspect the inner workings of the rear exhaust on a modern jet plane. The boys got their close-up look at France's latest aircraft during a display in Paris exhibiting the country's newest defense weapons.

DIAMOND BACK—Diamonds are a girl's best friend, even behind her back—according to one designer's creations for the fall. Done in black peau d'ange, the cocktail dress, above, has a full skirt with unpressed pleats, tiny cap sleeves, and little bows set atop the diamond cutouts.

"DEAD" SERGEANT BACK HOME—Sgt. Ken McConnell, 31, who kept himself alive in the Malayan jungle for 22 days after his plane crashed, arrives at the RAF station in Lynnhem, Wiltshire, after flying from Singapore. He was on a flight from Ipoh to Kuala Lumpur when his plane crashed. Injured in the legs and right eye, he lived on roots and berries until found by Aborigines. The Army had given Sergeant McConnell up for lost.

Mrs. Victor has just been hired by the Kansas City Athletics as a full-time public relations expert, the first woman ever to hold such a post for a major league baseball club. The gray-haired woman lectures to women's groups to help the KC A's build a strong backing of female fans.

TASTY JOB—For Phyllis Tamore, eating on the job is required by her employer. A professional steak taster, she tastes and grades broiled samples of beef which is to be quick-frozen for market. Mrs. Tamore, an employee at Swift & Company Research Laboratories in Chicago, doesn't beef about her pleasant task.

NEW SHIP BUILT IN RECORD TIME—Canada Steamship Lines shipyard. The keel was laid on March 15 and she was launched on new twin screw freighter Metis, with cargo space for 140,000 bushels of grain, arrived in Montreal recently. The prudent man will not delude himself that his hope for peace guarantees the realisation of peace. Even with genuine good will, time and effort will be needed to correct the injustices, to cure the dangerous sores that plague the earth today. And the future alone can show whether the Communists really want to move toward a just and stable peace.

Women Army Reserve Real Soldiers,

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP) — A summer camp of 250 women soldiers has established that the fair sex "should never have been allowed out of the army," say staff officers here.

Major William Teskey, recalling the job thousands of girls did for Canada while serving in the Canadian Women's Army Corps during the Second World War, says this camp for girls carrying on the tradition in the reserve army is keeping the record intact.

"They're doing a wonderful job," he said. "We ought to have more of them in the army right now."

Brig. G. O. R. Smith, who commands the army's central Ontario area and is commandant of this 144-tent camp just outside this quiet village near Niagara Falls, said the enthusiasm and ability of the CWAC's here has astonished the instructors, regular army officers who had never taught women before.

Home at Camp.

The women, whose average age is 26, live in tents with grass floors and two army-cot beds. Officers have a bureau.

Showers and ablution rooms each with an electric washing machine, are in separate tents. All have electric lighting. Officers have their own mess. Other ranks are together.

The women soldiers find tent guy wires excellent for hanging out lingerie. The women wear lipstick and curl their hair at shoulder-length but Brig. Smith said they could give a good account of themselves with a rifle if need be.

In the evening the girls are left on their own. Allowed out within a radius of 20 miles until 11 p.m. week nights and 1 a.m. Saturday's, some visit the village, some go to the United States nearby and others remain in camp for a good night's sleep.

Useful Training

The CWAC camp, commanded by Capt. Eunice Arnold of Oakville, is one of five in Canada this year. The girls' camp pay ranges from $50 for privates to $150 for officers. The day starts at 6 a.m. After breakfast there are lectures and drills until 11:30 when operations stop for lunch. At 1:30 p.m. classes resume until 4:30.

Learn Discipline

Said Pte. Therese Orloff, 20, of Ottawa:

"If you don't get to bed early you feel it the next morning on the parade square, by goodness. The army has taught me discipline and as soon as my two sisters are 18 I'm going to try to persuade them to join."

The Liquor Control Act

Application for Hotel Beer Licence

Public notice is hereby given that the undersigned intends to apply to The Alberta Liquor Control Board for a Licence to sell Beer by the glass or open bottle, for consumption on the licensed portion of the premises, and also to sell Beer by the unopened bottle for consumption elsewhere than on the licensed premises, in conformity with the provisions of The Liquor Control Act and the Regulations made thereunder, with respect to the following described premises:

Beer Salesroom in the north-west corner of the ground floor of the Empire Hotel, situated on Lots 1 and 2, in Block 8, Plan No. 820-L, Coleman, Alberta.

Dated at Coleman, Alberta, this 22nd day of August, 1956.

Stephen Bell

926 - 19th Ave., S.W.
Calgary, Alberta.

Any person wishing to protest against the issuance of a Beer Licence to the applicant should notify the Alberta Liquor Control Board, Edmonton, Alberta, in writing, within thirty days of the date shown at the foot of this advertisement.

Three-quarters of the women in camp here are married, many to army men.

Most of the women, who work at various types of jobs during the day, said they joined the militia for something to do. Parades are held two evenings a week in their home towns.

After a few months' training, however, they felt the service was more than just a time filler. It was preparing them for action should the country be threatened.

Polio less than half that of 1955

The incidence of polio across Canada is less than half that of 1955, and only a third of the 1951-52 average, the Department of National Health and Welfare said.

The provinces reported a total of 77 cases, of which 51 or 66 percent are the paralytic variety, to July 7.

The 77 cases constitute 41 percent of the 163 reported at the same time in 1955 and only 33 percent of the 231 reported for the five-year average.

The ratio of paralytic cases is somewhat higher this year; the 99 cases in 1955 represented 61 percent of the total cases and the 102 paralytic-type cases for the five-year average represented 44 percent of the total.

There have been five deaths attributed to polio this year compared to eight last year.

To date, B.C. has reported 22 cases, 12 of the paralytic, and Quebec has reported a total of 13 cases, 11 of them paralytic.

Last year at this time B.C. had 47 cases, 32 of them paralytic, and Quebec had a total of 22 cases, 16 of them paralytic.

There have been 14 cases, 11 of them paralytic, in Ontario this year, compared to a total of 40 cases, 16 of them paralytic in 1955.

While total numbers of cases in each province this year are small, the national picture, as a percentage of the 1955 incidence, is as follows: P.E.I. and Nfld., 100 percent; Quebec and N.B., 67 percent; N.S., 56 percent; B.C., 40 percent; Ontario, 13 percent; Manitoba, 25 percent; Alberta, 1 percent; Saskatchewan, eight percent; Yukon and N.W.T., none.

Latest way to stop smoking

A London doctor reported yet another "hazard" facing smokers—the possibility of swallowing a cigarette while watching television.

Dr. M. Lubel, in a letter to the British Medical Journal, told of a patient who became so engrossed in watching a fight on television that he swallowed his cigarette.

The doctor explained that this happened because a member of the family spoke to him at a crucial moment of the fight and he drew a sudden breath to say "shush".

He managed to cough up the butt, but suffered internal burns. "This patient now has given up smoking—but perhaps he should have given up TV," commented the doctor.

Fame sometimes eludes girls named world's beauty queens

How real is the pot of gold and fame at the end of the Miss Universe Contest rainbow?

They come from 32 countries and 39 states and three cities of the U.S.

After nine days of competition in face and form in the Fifth Annual International Beauty Congress, the fairest of all will be acclaimed Miss Universe.

Universal-International Studios will place Miss Universe, Miss U.S.A. and the runners-up under six-month contract. And it may sign others who look promising.

What has happened to the four previous winners of the titles, and to some of the runners-up who drew the eyes of movie producers?

The first Miss Universe, in 1952, was the Finnish beauty Helena Kuusela. Not long after winning she went to Manila to make an appearance at an international exposition. There she met wealthy young Virgilio Hilario. They were married soon after in Tokyo.

In 1953, Christiana Martel, 18, a fiery French brunette, walked off with the crown. She wed Ronnie Morengo, a Stockton, Calif., department store heir, in January, 1954, but their marriage lasted only 74 days. After completing her six-month film contract, she went on a night club tour of Mexico and South America. Little has been heard of her since.

The 1954 winner was Miriam Stevenson of Winnsboro, S.C., who was admired as typifying the fresh beauty of a country girl. Her interest in a movie career

Gout no longer a great problem

Drugs have taken the sting out of gout, and it no longer is a great medical problem, according to a Buffalo, N.Y., physician.

Dr. John H. Talbott told the annual clinical conference of the Chicago Medical Society that the drugs colchicine and benemid have made management of gout easier than that of other chronic joint ailments.

Talbott, professor of medicine at the University of Buffalo and physician-in-chief at the Buffalo General Hospital, said colchicine reduces significantly the incidence of acute attacks of the disease.

He said benemid serves to eliminate uric acid from the body. Gout, a metabolic disorder, is associated with an excess of uric acid in the blood and chalky deposits in cartilages of joints it once was looked upon as a disease which made its victims grouchy old men who suffered intensely.

Talbott said the two drugs and a few diet measures combine to form a simple treatment.

"More than 90 percent of those afflicted suffer surprisingly little and are able to lead normal lives, if they follow a relatively simple schedule of management," he said.

Iron ore shipments up sharply in May

Shipments of iron ore by Canadian mines increased 65 percent in May to 2,440,242 tons from 1,471,369 a year ago, and 78 percent in the first five months to 3,480,611 tons from 1,959,671. Stocks at month-end were down slightly to 2,061,767 tons from 2,093,915 last year, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Shipments for export rose in the month to 2,163,765 tons against 1,393,998 last year and in the five months totalled 2,840,602 against 1,743,033 tons. Ore to Canadian consumers rose more than three times to 276,477 tons in May from 80,371 last year and to 640,015 tons from 216,638 in the five months.

Millinery still high, wide and handsome

Millinery continues to be high, wide, handsome and eye-catching. For fall, the stress will be on romance achieved with lavish drapery, delicate feathering and lots of fur.

Even the casual cloche will look different with high, softly indented crowns and irregular brims. Beaver felts, velours and other textured surfaces will be intricately tucked, folded, bowed and banded. Metallic embroidery and jeweled medallions will be used to give the rich fabrics an even richer look. The new cloches will be set further back on the head to avoid last season's "heavy look". Although big, the new hats rarely veil the eyes.

For wear with tweeds and wools there will be fur berets, high Russian chechias, turbans and toques, some of them made of fluffy textured fabrics that look like fox, beaver and sable. Feather betrons and toques in rich gamebird colors are also suggested for wear with town tweeds and daytime wools.

However, the romantic look comes to full flower in wide dinner hats of fluffy furs, floating ostrich plumes or richly-draped velvet. Turbans of brocade, satin, lame and other luxurious materials have a look of Oriental luxury. Jewel and feather headresses will be worn with formal gowns.

POPULAR

Jerry Mertz is the most popular boy in the sixth grade at St. John's School because he likes spinach. Students at the school must show clean lunch plates before they are permitted to go outside to the playground. So everybody wants to sit beside Jerry because he likes spinach so well he will eat his own and that of others sitting near him who don't like it.

H. J. MILES

J. A. VOPNI

Mr. A. W. Hanks of St. James, Manitoba, president of Prairie Publishers Co-operative Limited, has announced the appointment of John A. Vopni of Davidson, Saskatchewan, as manager and secretary-treasurer of the company. Mr. Vopni succeeds Harry J. C. A. Ashfield, editor of the Grenfell Sun, has been named vice-president of the company to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Vopni's resignation from the Board of Directors.

Stirling King of the Estevan Mercury, H. G. Thunell, publisher of the Viking News, Alberta, and J. C. Adair, publisher of the Eaton Enterprise, are members of the Board of Directors.

Mr. Vopni was elected vice-president of Prairie Publishers Co-operative Association in January, 1952, when the co-operative was formed and the business purchased from Toronto Type Founders Limited. He filed that office until he was appointed to the new position.

Prairie Publishers is a co-operative owned and operated by editors and publishers of weekly newspapers in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Their objectives are to provide services and manufacturing products required in the publishing and printing of weekly newspapers.

known as "ready print". This is a co-operatively printed section of weekly newspapers with blank pages on which the local paper is printed in the town of publication. By owning and controlling the production of this "ready print", weekly publishers are not only assured of a continuance of the service, but have a voice in the policy and selection of the reading matter carried in that section of their local newspapers. Other services include the production of pictures on plastic which are used in the printing of weekly newspapers, typesetting for the trade, and manufacture of a variety of materials used in producing a weekly paper.

2. Measure, cream until soft 3/4 cup butter or margarine. Gradually blend in 3/4 cup granulated sugar 1 teaspoon salt. Add, part at a time, beating well after each addition 4 well-beaten eggs. Stir in dissolved yeast and 3 cups once-sifted all-purpose flour and beat until smooth and elastic. Work in an additional 2 1/2 cups (about) once-sifted all-purpose flour.
3. Turn out on lightly-floured board and knead into a smooth ball. Place in greased bowl and brush with melted butter or margarine. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Trade old house in on new one in U.S.

In the United States people can now trade in their old houses on a new house, just like they do with cars. But under Canadian legislation, that sort of thing is not possible yet in Canada.

The U.S. trade-in plan works this way:

Mr. Smith living in an old home, wants to buy a new one in another part of town. He contacts a builder and buys the new house, turning over his old home to the builder as a trade-in down payment.

So far as Mr. Smith is concerned the deal is over and he moves into his new home. The builder, meanwhile, if he cannot get rid of the house immediately, is now able to go to a mortgage lender and get a mortgage loan insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

NEW BIRTH MEANS LIFE OF PEACE, LOVE, FAITHFULNESS

The mystery of New Birth is associated with the baptism of the Holy Spirit. We cannot understand the mystery of God or the nature and relationship of Father, Son and Holy Spirit; but we see the operations of God's spirit in human life and we know, as the early disciples knew from practical experience, that the Holy Spirit is present with men to be their guide and helper.

To come to the plain, practical side of all this mystery, the baptism of the Holy Spirit is not in some miraculous thing that men can claim to have experienced that has no relation to daily living. If a man has been baptized of the Holy Spirit and the Spirit of God is in him, the fruits of that indwelling will be seen in his life and character.

"The fruits of the Spirit," Paul says, "are love, joy, peace, kindness, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, self-control." Against these, there is no law. They are the positive expressions of the good life and the God-given life that all who seek God's guidance can develop without limitation. Here there need be no restraint, and if all men had this experience of the New Birth we should have no need of laws, or of law officers, except to direct the normal ways and relationships of men.

The higher one rises in this new life in Christ, and the more conscious he is of God's presence and guidance, the humbler is his spirit and attitude. Men of the world may glory in their wealth or success, but the truer and better the Christian becomes, the less will he boast about it. It is in this spirit that Paul admonished the Christians at Galatia: "Let us not become vainglorious, provoking one another, envying one another."

Learn to lob

The average tennis player loses a great many points by hitting directly to his opponent when the latter is at the net. This happens quite often when he has to go after a tough one, and can't take time to place the shot.

In this situation, when your opponent can "kill" any level shot, you must use the lob. This is the high, lazy shot which drops down just inside your opponent's baseline and chases him back and away from the net. It is a defensive shot and should be used whenever you have been pulled out of position in going for a difficult shot. The lob will force your opponent onto the defensive.

We suggest that you learn the lob by practising it regularly until you can drop it just inside the baseline every time.

Keep the left arm straight

As a golfer, you've probably heard the rule, "Keep that left arm straight." It steers the swing while the right hand, arm and shoulder give it power.

The main thing to remember, however, is that while the left arm should be straight, it should not be tense or rigid. The straight left arm keeps the club from straying away from its proper line on the backswing and in coming down, into and through the ball on the downswing.

The left arm is a must for championship golf. Learn to keep your straight left relaxed, because it

Clarinets, Sax good for wind

Victims of respiratory diseases would do well to take up the playing of either clarinets or saxophones, advises a writer in the current British Medical Journal. Making music with wind instruments is excellent breathing exercise and "is likely to be beneficial rather than otherwise to sufferers from respiratory disorders." It is said warning is given, though, that performing on the flute or oboe—which require the player to hold his breath for long periods—should be avoided.

Two million more women than men in France

According to the census of 1954 the French population consists of 22,285,380 women and 20,544,320 men. There are 117 French women voters for every 100 men.

Women account for 34.6 percent of the French non-agricultural working population, a proportion higher than that in the United States, Great Britain, or West Germany. They have made notable strides in the liberal professions: 11 percent of the lawyers of France, 7 percent of her doctors, 23 percent of her dentists, and 28 percent of her pharmacists are women.

More than 100 women judges in the courts of first instance, a woman judge in the "Cour de Cassation", France's highest court of appeal, 19 women deputies in the National Assembly, and nine women senators in the Council of the Republic bear eloquent witness to the words of the preamble of the French constitution: "Women shall have equal rights with men in all domains."

FIRST AID MAY SAVE A LIFE

First aid is the action taken by trained persons in case of injury, hemorrhage, asphyxiation or poisoning, to prevent further injury or death. This aid to the injured is given until the arrival of the doctor. The necessary knowledge and skill are gained by courses in first aid training given by local civil defence organizations, St. John Ambulance or Red Cross.

Birds show much ingenuity in handling their food problems

Unlike certain higher animals, such as monkeys, birds seldom develop means of collecting and handling their food other than by using their beaks and claws. However, there are a few exceptions.

The simplest examples are demonstrated by those birds that use rocks and roadways as anvils on which to smash food that would otherwise be inedible. Gulls and ravens do this when they fly high over rocks onto which they drop shellfish and then descend to enjoy their meal. Similarly, European song thrushes use stones on which they shatter the shells of the snails they find in gardens.

Woodpeckers will use a crevice in a tree trunk as a vise when the cracking nuts or when opening pine cones. Once a suitable crevice has been found, the place may be used for weeks as a sort of workbench, come after one being weighed there, broken up and then discarded.

The grey butcher bird of Australia employs the sharp end of a doglike of the wild members of the canine family.
